Hi Emma,

Thanks so much for your email this afternoon. We would love to continue our conversation on the best path forward to facilitate detail agreements with the House and the Senate.

If tomorrow after 10am works best for you, how about 2pm? We are all available at that time. Happy to send a calendar invitation if that may be convenient.

And when you refer to a joint path forward, do you intend for the conversation to be between your office and ours, or do you plan to invite the Senate and House folks too? Just calibrating expectations.

Thanks so much for reaching out,

(b) (6)

Good Afternoon All!

We have received calls from both the Senate and the House on the topic of detail agreements over the past two days, and would like to work on scheduling a a conversation to find a joint path forward.

Would you have any availability to meet this afternoon or tomorrow? On our end, schedules look quite clear tomorrow morning after 10:00, but we can adjust to accommodate your schedules.

Thank you!

Emma

Up to you and your team if you would like to use these suites but wanted to provide this update.

We have talked to USSS and have a plan to address.

If you want to have FedEx come back to deliver this package please let us know and we will make sure USSS knows that it is coming and is prepared to screen on site.

If you have more deliveries that were shipped prior to 11/4, please let us know the estimated arrival date and carrier so we can coordinate on site USSS screening for any packages that come directly to the site.

For the Post-Election period GSA has partnered with USSS and White House Office of Administration Mail Management for screening and delivery of mail and packages for the Transition Site. We think that your package may have been in transit before the cutover was activated but delivered after the cutover was activated. We will be sending some test packages today to validate the process that GSA has worked out with USSS and WH OA Mail Management is working as planned for all carriers (UPS, USPS, and FedEx) and will advise back with the results.

This change is acceptable to GSA due to the temporary impact. As this impacts your team as well, I wanted to flag. We understand that this will impact your team's operations but believe that the impact will be minimal due to the option to cut through the courtyard. Please advise if you see things differently.

Hi team --

Erik and Beth asked me to test the @apps.gsa.gov account and laptop setup this morning and to run it "through the ringer", especially on ▓(b) (5)▓

I was able to get ▓(b) (5)▓ fully working including video calls, the ▓(b) (5)▓ worked great (though we probably only need to issue one to users) and was able to enable Windows Hello so that I can login to the laptop using the fingerprint reader (great!).

Here are a few initial findings:

- Office.
  - Office was not activated when I launched it, but it worked fine once I activated it.

    - ▓(b) (5)▓ in is enabled which I think we probably don't want since it encourages folks to upload to ▓(b) (5)▓ which we're not offering.
  - I got an office auto update prompt when I launched Office the first time, we probably want to enforce this by policy.

▓(b) (5)▓ concerns aside, my main concern on the laptop remains the lack of remote management to address normal users issues like password resets or troubleshooting.

I think we should continue to move forward with the plan we agreed upon last night, but do think this approach is promising for devices if we could sort out remote mgmt.

Thanks,

Good Morning (b) (6) ,

As Liz mentioned yesterday, GSA's USAGov team has mocked up some content that could be added to USA.gov and the Spanish language USA.gov site to provide biographical information and a headshot/photo for the (potential) President-Elect and spouse and Vice President-Elect and spouse.

Based on the attached information and our conversation yesterday, you may either request that USA.gov link to the campaign website sections with photos and biographies in lieu of adding content to USA.gov., OR you may provide content directly for the site. If you opt to provide a link, we can make updates at a later point with additional biographical material, should there be a full transition.

Please find attached to this message:
1) President-elect mock up pages: You'll find two versions below. Both include the full page example as it would look on USA.gov. One expands out drop-down information within the bio to show how that section would look. Note: text and images are not final. These were developed for placement only.

2) USAGov program one-pager: This document includes a summary about the role of USAGov. The one-pager includes FY2020 highlights and our role in providing clear, official government information to the public, including during national emergencies

Hi (b) (6) ,

I went with my facilities lead to look at the walls in (b) (5) and am providing the photos attached of the affected areas. The affected areas are approximately 2ft by 1ft and have been temporarily patched with drywall and white tape.

We are working to schedule the full patch and paint repair, but as the leak has been remediated your team could use these suites until the date of the repair, which would likely be on the weekend to minimize impact to your team. Up to you and your team if you would like to use these suites but wanted to provide this update.

Thanks,

Liz Cain

Hi (b) (6)

Attached below please find the draft House and Senate Reimbursable Detail Agreements.

GSA OGC has reviewed both documents in advance of transmittal. The track changes in this document are GSA edits to the House and Senate drafts, and these edits have not yet been shared with the Senate Disbursement Office or the House Payroll Division. Some edits to the Senate Financial Addendum to update the contact information for this cycle were made without track changes for readability.

Please let me know if you have any questions or would like to discuss.

We have seen some minor glitches, but I was on a call with 100 folks at 2:30 with no issues.

Hi team -- What's the latest on the network? I just had another Meet call drop. Can we find time to sync up on this tomorrow? It's imperative that there is stable internet at DOC .

Ok, just to set expectations we do anticipate having folks in the office this week in larger numbers so the impact of any network issues is going to be magnified. Would be good to have them keep a close eye on it. Esp Wednesday onward.

The folks have been looking at the network today and not seen anything, but do see that some tuning is needed. That will occur after the full network config has been reviewed.

Hi,

We did see a network slow down for about 15 minutes so are investigating it.

Hi -- I just had a (b) (5) call drop pretty bad. It seemed like an upload only issue (I could hear other folks just fine). What's the latest with the upload capacity and saturation at DOC?

(b) (6),

We are fully committed to fulfilling the agreement that we made during the September 17th. I met with BAH Friday after our meeting to reinforce our requirement of (b) (5) must be followed. Period, no exceptions.

We are still working to get the meeting with (b) (5) and (b) (5) on how to best address some of the other recommendations.

As for the network issues, we are shifting this to SAIC. We will have them continue the investigation to answer your questions and ours ASAP.

Thanks, a few questions:
   - What is the download/upload speed for the circuit at DOC?
   - How is the team doing proactive ongoing network quality monitoring such that the team is aware of issues before users report them?
   - Has the team investigated the source of these traffic spikes to understand what the cause was and whether there are any security concerns? If so, what was the source? (b) (5) documentation states that you should expect ~3.5 Mbps upload for an HD Video call, so it seems unlikely this was caused by (b) (5). After some additional investigation, we believe the issue at DOC on Tuesday may be bandwidth related. You can see from the attached chart that we experienced a significant amount of network traffic between 10am and 4pm Eastern (the chart below is in GMT). These are five minute averages which may mean that we may be experiencing even higher spikes in traffic.

We are continuing to monitor this and will let you know if we find some additional information.
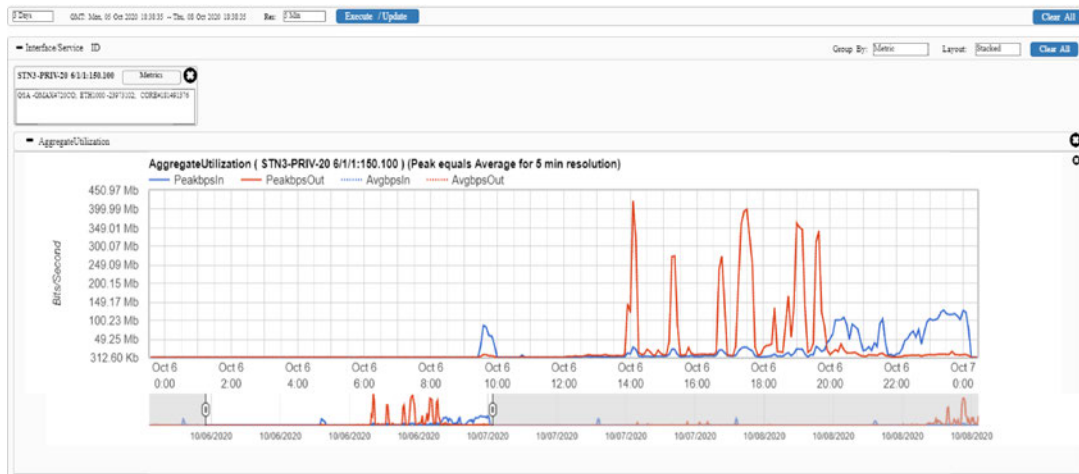

Thanks.

Let me check.   Do you have the approximate times when you experienced the drops?

Thanks.

Hi -- A few times today I've had the internet seem to drop out for a few seconds which interrupts video calls. Are there known issues today with the internet? (Note: the wifi connection remains connected which makes me think it's an internet connection issue). Is there network quality monitoring running that detects upstream packet loss? Any alerts on that?

Thanks,
